REPORT CONFIRMED

Uncle Sam Declines to Arbitrate the Hazleton, Pa., Riots.

AUSTRIA'S PROPOSED PLAN

To Secure Indemnity for the Killing of Her Subjects During a Strike. Aigor Desires Volunteers Taken From Spanish War Veterans as Far as Possible—Other Capital News.

Washington, July 11.—The officials here confirm the advice from Vienna that a plan of arbitration, proposed as a means of settling claims growing out of the Hazleton (Pa.) riots, had been rejected by the United States. This probably disposes of the matter, according to the view held here, as it has run the entire gamut of diplomatic negotiations, and all of the plans of settlement, including the last one of arbitration, have come to naught.

At the outset the state department called the matter to the attention of the governor of Pennsylvania, who in turn awaited the action of the jury at Hazleton, which tried the sheriff on the charge of murder. The jury acquitted the sheriff, whereupon the Pennsylvania authorities held that they could not recognize a responsibility which a jury had held did not exist.

The state department took a similar view, whereupon Austria-Hungary proposed arbitration of the claims. It is this last proposal, which is rejected, which seems to close the matter, as the claims are hardly considered of sufficient importance to justify Austria-Hungary to go beyond the diplomatic representations she has already made.

VOLUNTEERS

Who Served in Cuba to Be Recruited as Far as Possible.

Washington, July 11.—Secretary Alger is very anxious to have the new regiments recruited as far as possible from men who served in the state volunteers during the Spanish war. He has received information from a number of officers, especially those who were on duty mustering out the volunteers in different states, that if there was an opportunity afforded probably 90 per cent of the new regiments would be composed of these men. Of course, under the regulations, the recruiting officers cannot discriminate between the men who have been in the volunteer service and those who have not, and men will be enlisted as they apply without regard to their previous service records.

Wheat Crop Report.

Washington, July 11.—Following is the monthly grain report, issued yesterday by the department of agriculture: The condition of wheat in the principal

Not so very long ago pirates attacked a vessel in the Chinese sea. The crew fled in terror to the rigging, but the captain's wife seized a cutlass, and as the pirates' heads appeared over the vessel's side, she cut them down like weeds, until those remaining re-entered their boats and rowed away.

Diseases that attack women are worse than pirates. They torture long before they kill. But women can beat them off and cut them down with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This is a woman's remedy that has no alcohol, opium or other narcotic in it. It is the prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., who has devoted a long and successful life to the study and treatment of diseases peculiar to women. It overcomes irregularities, stops disagreeable drains, bearing-down pains and backache, cures female weakness and headache. It helps the girl over the difficulties encountered when she enters womanhood; makes the period preceding marriage a time of comfort; and the newborn child is born without unnecessary pain to the mother. At the "turn of life" it is priceless to womanhood. Medicine dealers sell it, and you should never permit them to substitute other medicine which they may urge upon you as "just as good."

"I had been a great sufferer from female weakness," writes Mrs. M. B. Wallace, of Mendon, Cooke Co., Texas. "I tried four doctors, and none did me any good. I suffered six years, but at last I found relief. I followed your advice, and took four bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and eight of the 'Favorite Prescription.' I now feel like a new woman. I have gained eighteen pounds."

TRAGEDY IN CHURCH

Cousin of Ex-Secretary Carlisle Shoots Professor Lipscomb at Dallas.

Dallas, July 11.—Last night in the First Christian church John T. Carlisle arose from his seat and walked to where Professor William Lipscomb, principal of the high school was seated, and without warning, shot him. Carlisle was taken to jail. He would give no explanation for the cause of the tragedy, but it is supposed because he failed of reappointment as chief janitor of the high school through Lipscomb's influence. Carlisle is from Kentucky and a cousin of ex-Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle.

RICH COPPER ORE

Discovered by an American in the Parry Sound District, Canada.

Toronto, July 11.—It is announced that copper ore of almost incredible extent and richness has been found in the Parry Sound district within seven hours' railway distance of Toronto. The discovery was due practically to an American mining expert named Forbes, who has organized two companies, one composed entirely of St. Paul capitalists and the other composed of Canadian and St. Paul men, which have secured all claims in the neighborhood and have commenced operation on an extensive scale.

Will Be Shot Thursday.

Durant, I. T., July 11.—News comes from Alkiche, 85 miles east of Goodland, that William Going, the Choctaw Indian, has been sentenced to be shot on Thursday next. The condemned man, whose Indian name is Walla Tonka, killed his uncle, a deputy sheriff, when the latter attempted to arrest him for a misdemeanor. GEN. WOOD RETURNS

To Santiago and Finds Yellow Fever Situation More Serious Than Expected.

BEGINS VIGOROUS ACTION

To Stamp Out the Dread Disease. Headquarters of the Army Moved Twenty Miles Out of the City—Ex-Cuban Soldiers Expected to Cause Trouble When Troops Are Moved.

Santiago de Cuba, July 11.—General Leonard Wood, the military governor, returned yesterday from the United States and immediately began vigorous action to stamp out the yellow fever. He finds the situation more serious than he had anticipated.

Today headquarters were moved to Congo, 20 miles north on the railroad, a point 1,000 feet above sea level, as well as all the administrative departments, except the sanitary and a few immune clerks in the quartermaster's and commissary staffs.

The paymaster has been ordered to suspend all payments to the Cuban troops until the fever has been stamped out, the special object of the order being to prevent the soldiers from drinking during the epidemic.

Many predict there will be trouble when the United States troops are entirely removed from the city, as there are many hundred destitute Cuban soldiers already here. They are expecting payment and have been, though for the best reasons, put off for a month.

BRIGANDS BUSY

Plantations Robbed and Tribute Levied by Cuban Thugs.

Havana, July 11.—Recently the Havana Herald abused its contemporaries generally for publishing bandit stories. On the following day it devoted an entire column to a wild yarn from Guanajay.

In most of these cases, when the evidence is carefully sifted, it turns out that the alleged brigandage is petty thievery, but there is no doubt that bandits do exist at several points, bands of from 10 to 50 men, who have not the pluck to go into the cities and hold up banks and railway trains, but prefer to attack isolated stores, raid small villages and swoop down upon distant plantations.

At Bojuel two armed men hailed Julio Angulo, owner of the plantation Santa Rosa, and ordered him to open the door of his house. He hesitated or refused, whereupon he complied. They bound Angulo, searched the house, secured $510 and, having ordered him to bring an additional $500 to a spot designated within an hour, under threat to return and kill him, they left with the planter's horse, rifle and machete.

A short time afterward the same men practically repeated this performance on the plantation Gutierrez, belonging to Fernin Diaz. There they obtained 10 centimes. They went next to the adjoining farm, the property of Jose Gonzales, where they secured $10 and various articles of jewelry, finally disappearing, untouched by the bullets fired from the raided houses after their departure.

SECURED $1 400

But In Attempting to Escape the Robber Runs Into an Officer.

Peoria, Ill., July 11.—Bert Meadows, recently released from the Chester penitentiary, held up J. A. Settler in his store at Averyville, a suburb, and secured $1,400 from the safe. In making his escape he ran into Officer Herman Damm, who arrested him. After being arrested the robber drew a revolver and fired at the officer sending a bullet through his own arm. He fired again and shot the officer through the neck. By this time aid arrived and the prisoner was locked up. It is not known whether the policeman will recover or not.

Suits Against Diamond Match Co.

Houghton, Mich., July 11.—In the federal court yesterday the first of four damage suits, aggregating claims of $952,500, against the Diamond Match company, was brought to trial. The Diamond Match company, it is alleged, has obstructed navigation of the Ontonagon river, a stream declared navigable by the government for nine years, and there are 50,000,000 feet of logs in the river, which absolutely prevents all other lumbermen getting their logs down.

SPANISH WAR EVENT

Anniversary of the Capture of the Spanish Steamer Santo Domingo.

Washington, July 11.—Tomorrow will be the anniversary of an event in the war with Spain of some importance in history and of particular interest to Lieutenant W. H. H. Southerland, now in command of the dispatch boat Dolphin. Everybody was still very much excited at that time over the destruction of Cervera's fleet, and the event of July 12 escaped the notice that it would have attracted at any other time.

The Eagle, which Southerland then commanded, was a little cockleshell of 800 tons. Her largest gun was 4-inch, and she had four of them. Her crew was about 60 strong. Prowling along to the westward of the Isle of Pines, looking out for two expected Spanish ships, the Eagle sighted a big steamer heading toward a port which the big ship had appointed to make. He put on all speed and soon came up with the stranger, but before getting within range she was joined by a steamboat from the shore. The Eagle then opened fire, when the steamboat hurried away, carrying a large load of passengers.

Lieutenant Southerland got no response to his attack upon the Spanish ship, although he could see that she had guns mounted. A boat was sent to her and found her deserted, the boilers blowing off at 170 pounds pressure on the gauges. The vessel proved to be the Santo Domingo of the Compania Transatlantica, 3,000 tons burden, armed with two "four-point-seven" (or 5-inch) guns, with a supply of 100 rounds of ammunition for these formidable pieces.

As the Santo Domingo had grounded and the Eagle was too small and weak to pull her off, Lieutenant Southerland, fearing an attempt to rescue, set her on fire and left her to burn. Her cargo was estimated as worth about $1,000,000, and it included two 12-inch Montoria guns, carried on skids in the hold, and intended for the defenses of Havana. The Santo Domingo's case is before the court of claims for consideration. If the prize is adjudicated at anything like the valuation indicated by the manifest at the time of the capture, the award ought to be very handsome for the commander, and not small for the crew, of the Eagle.

Hopes They Will Be Able to Agree.

In regard to a provisional boundary, the United States and Canada were not able so far to agree upon one, but he was in hopes they would be able to do so.

The club afterward obtained a setting of 15 eggs, which were placed under a bantam hen to be hatched. Ten fine birds were produced, and during the present season a number of these birds have reared broods, so that they are multiplying very rapidly. If they are not disturbed for the next six years, during which time it is unlawful to kill them, the whole country will be stocked, furnishing fine sport for the hunter.

ZINC ALLOY

Discovered in Crude Petroleum by Lebanon Chemists.
Lebanon, Ind., July 11.—Chemists here have made the discovery that in the crude petroleum from one certain well a lead and zinc alloy is held in solution to the amount of one and one-half pounds to 10 gallons of oil. The discovery was made in the process of refining the crude oil. Then the zinc was deposited, and, as metallic flakes, was discovered. The amount of lead is small compared to the zinc. The chemists will investigate further to determine the chemical value of the alloy and the practicability of extracting it.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING

Of a Man Who Sought a Fortune In Alaskan Goldfields.

Seattle, Wash., July 11.—M. Fleming of Philadelphia has arrived here from Fort Wrangel, Alaska, on the steamer Rosalina, and is a mute witness of suffering of the prospectors who rushed to the Yukon goldfields over the Edmonton route. Mr. Fleming presents a sad sight, being badly bloated with dropsy. He had gone through great physical and mental suffering. The successive attacks of fever, scurvy, pneumonia and dropsy have left him in a critical condition, both physically and mentally. The physical pain he endures constantly is so severe that for the past 18 days he has scarcely slept. After all his sufferings in the north he has returned to civilization to die. He was unable to leave the steamer.

His mental condition is such he cannot tell a connected and succinct story of his experiences. From his rambling sentences it is learned that in February, 1898, he started for Dawson from Calgary with a party of 14, which was made up at Calgary. The party had 80 horses and it was captained by John Mason, an old Californian, whom Fleming formerly knew in Colorado. Mason was drowned in the Nelson river. A Bulgarian named Walley was accidentally shot and killed by a Frenchman at Hell Gate, on the lower Liard river. Three of the party died at Damer lake of scurvy. Fleming could not recall the names, neither could he give the names of any of the party. The surviving members cut a trail for 500 miles through the underbrush. For four months they lived on short rations. Nearly all of their horses died and much of their equipment was lost.

YOU CAN'T BEAT 'EM.

THIS WAS JOBSON'S CONCLUSION ABOUT WOMEN IN GENERAL.

It Was Prompted by a Midnight Experience With His Wife, In Which the Revenant That He Had Planned So Well Went Sadly Astray.

Mr. Jobson got home from his office at 4:15 one afternoon not long ago and found a note from Mrs. Jobson saying that she had gone to hear the performance of a long haired pianist and that he'd find his dinner all ready for the girl to serve it.
"That's a good thing, too," mused Mr. Jobson sulkily when he had read the note. "It's a wonder these mattress headed geniuses that come over here to this country and rake in American dollars, having Americans all the time, wouldn't call their game at an hour that 'ud permit a tolling man's wife to be on hand at home to give him something to eat when he wants it," etc.
The opportunity was too good for Mr. Jobson to miss, so he declined to eat any dinner when the servant put it on the table. Instead he slammed on his hat and went down town.
He wanted to give Mrs. Jobson a lesson. He ate an unsatisfactory dinner at a restaurant and then poked around until it was time for a variety theater to open its doors. He had to watch a lot of poorly played billiard games in order to put in this time and to talk with a lot of bachelors, from whose ways of thinking he had departed.
He was bored exceedingly by theater time. The show bored him still more, but he stuck it out, for he wanted to get home as late as possible, the better to rub it in on Mrs. Jobson. By 11 o'clock he reflected that he had had a pretty poor sort of an evening—his evening paper unread, his favorite pipe neglected for a lot of cigars that gave him heartburn, a poor dinner, idle talk with a slew of men that he didn't want to talk to, and finally a tawdry, cheap variety performance that might have got a laugh out of him ten years before, but was only so much ribaldry to him now.
He took in a couple more billiard games, however, after the show and threw a couple of cocktails into himself, not because he cared to drink, but because he wanted Mrs. Jobson to smell his breath and thus perceive the awful consequences of her conduct.
Mrs. Jobson was comfortably tucked in bed when Mr. Jobson got home about half an hour after midnight. She had not even left a light burning in the vestibule or in the bedroom. She woke up very leisurely when Mr. Jobson started one of the gas jets going. She didn't say anything, however.
Mr. Jobson had expected to find her up, fully dressed and in tears. He was disappointed. He was more disappointed that she didn't greet him with reproaches. Mr. Jobson saw that she was likely to go to sleep again and that he wasn't causing any grief at all by being naughty and keeping still. So he cleared his throat and said:
"Did he play the buck dance concerto in 2 minor with his hair, and how was it?"
There was a lot of sarcasm in the way Mr. Jobson asked this question.
Mrs. Jobson didn't turn over at all. "What are you talking about?" she inquired sleepily.
"I want to know if that Dutchman that kept you away from your duty of serving a meal to your husband after his day of grinding labor gave you your money's worth; also if you think you're making any kind of a hit with anybody by these methods, hey?"
"Oh, the recital; that's what you're speaking of, isn't it?" said Mrs. Jobson sweetly. "Well, I didn't go. I had intended to go when I started out shopping in the morning and left the note for you telling you so, but I thought it might annoy you to have me away from dinner, and so, when I concluded my shopping, about 4 o'clock this afternoon, I decided not to go to the recital. The fourteenth street car that brought me up town passed the car that took you down town. I saw you on the car and wondered why you were going in that direction. I suppose you had to go back to your office to work. It's shameful the way they're overworking you, you poor old thing," and then Mrs. Jobson, who knew that Mr. Jobson hadn't been working at his office, turned over and subsided into dreamy slumber.
"You can't beat 'em," thought Mr. Jobson when he got into bed. "He was thinking of women in general.—Washington Star.

Her Turn.

Guests were expected to dinner at little Flossie's home the other evening, and she was in consequence hustled off to bed and milk and bread an hour earlier than usual.
"Here you grown up folks" she sighed as she was laid away, "are going to sit up in your best clothes all evening and eat all those nice things, while I've got to go up stairs with nothing to eat but old bread and milk and go to bed early. Never mind," after a reflective pause. "After a while I'll grow up, and then I'll have all the nice things, and you'll all be dead."—Kansas City Star

DEATH ABOARD SHIP.

HOW BURIALS AT SEA FROM OCEAN LINERS ARE MANAGED.

Little Ceremony and Hasty Funerals the Rule When Sailors or Steerage Passengers Are the Victims — Efforts to Cheat the Sharks.

There is no place where death is more unwelcome than on board a passenger steamer, and between the death and burial of a sea traveler the melancholy influence of the event extends to every one on board. The limitations of space are very likely responsible in part for this, for there is the feeling that until the body has been cast into the arms of the sea there is no getting away from it. So spake a man who has crossed the Atlantic ocean many times and who on more than one occasion had been a passenger on one of the big liners when death had claimed a victim from among those on board.

Sailors dread a death on board their vessel as much as anything, and when one occurs they are all anxiety to render the body the last service, and this fact is often responsible for the haste and scant consideration with which burials at sea are too often conducted. But the days of such ceremonies are fast dying, and efforts are now being made which will permit of the body being carried for the remainder of the journey after death and properly buried on land.

Even now it is generally only sailors and steerage passengers who are buried at sea, and frequently these are cast to the waves without so much as the vessel being slowed down and within an hour or two of their death.

Often enough a death occurs in a vessel without the fact becoming known to more than one or two of the crew or steerage passengers. Every effort is made to keep the event secret, and in the stillness of night, when better class passengers are comfortably curled up in their bunks, a little band of men, moving like shadows across the deck, bear a body from below, and, while the vessel is plowing the sea, the mortal remains wrapped in canvas or inclosed in a crudely made box, are quietly slipped over the ship's side into the mysterious deep.

The presence of a dead body on board has sometimes not even been suspected by the passengers until some one has noticed the sharks that are following. For it is no mere sailor's story that sharks know when a ship contains a corpse. A vessel carrying a dead body and passing through waters frequented by sharks is almost sure to be followed by one or more of those fishes, if it does not outspeed them.

Rather than bury a corpse while sharks are following a vessel the captain will sometimes have the body placed in the ice chamber and full steam put on the engines until the hungry fishes have dropped astern completely.

In one case at least a body was actually cremated on board by the captain's orders because of the sharks. But sharks are not often obstacles to prompt burial, and, generally speaking, when a death occurs at sea, the body is slipped into the water at night with none to witness the proceeding but a couple of the crew and the captain, who reads an abridgment of the service from the prayer book.

The manner of burial of course depends greatly upon the captain's own feelings in respect to the dead, and it must be acknowledged that these feelings are in some cases all that they should be. Some captains have the greatest objection to "dumping" a dead body into the sea, and when it is unavoidable, will do their utmost to conduct the ceremony with all possible reverence and respect.

For all that, there is always the feeling of the ship's crew and the melancholy effect of the presence of a corpse to be reckoned with, and the argument that more consideration is due to the living than the dead often prompts a captain to "dump" a steerage passenger in the dead of night without mentioning the event to more than a couple of hands.

Thus it often happens that while a concert or a private theatrical performance is going on in the saloon the captain is engaged making arrangements for the burial of some unfortunate creature.

A queer wager is the one popularly believed to have been won by Sir Walter Raleigh from Queen Elizabeth, on the debatable question of how much smoke is contained in a pound of tobacco. A pound of the article was weighed, burned and then weighed in ashes, and the question was held to be satisfactorily settled by determining the weight of the smoke as exactly that of the tobacco before being burned, minus the ashes. The fact of the ashes having received an additional weight by combination with the oxygen of the atmosphere was unthought of by Elizabeth and the knight.

RETURN LIMIT EXTENDED.

Seashore Excursion Tickets via Pennsylvania Lines Good Fifteen Days Returning.

The return limit on the low fare excursion tickets to Atlantic City, Cape May, Avalon, Holly Beach, Ocean City, Sea Isle City, Wildwood, New Jersey, Rehoboth, Del., and Ocean City, Md., to be sold August 10th, from principal stations on the Pennsylvania Lines will be fifteen days including days of purchase. This is longer limit than that granted on similar tickets sold in previous seasons, and will be ample for a delightful sojourn at the seaside. The extreme return limit will be August 24th, which will allow a week after returning home to prepare for school and other duties which begin with the opening of September.

The date of the excursion, August 10th, is the most convenient for an outing. Business is quiet at this season, crops are gathered, and office, store and farm duties are not exacting. The thermometer usually reaches the highest point about this time. It will be a pleasing diversion to spend week's vacation in the invigorating ocean breeze and experience the unlimited pleasure at the command of the summer idler by the sea.
The round trip rate from Seymour will be $15. Tickets at this exceptional low rate fare may be secured to either of the ten resorts mentioned above, which are the most attractive along the Atlantic coast. For illustrated descriptive matter about them apply to O. B. Sappington, local ticket agent of the Pennsylvania Lines, who will also furnish information about time of trains, etc.

The First Anniversary.

It is just a year since the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road inaugurated its celebrated Pioneer Limited passenger train service between Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis. This service marked the new era in the railroad world in the line of passenger accommodations. At a cost of a quarter of a million dollars that progressive company furnished the traveling public, in its Pioneer Limited train, comforts and facilities the best ever produced. This train has been described many times in newspapers and magazines, but should be seen and examined to be appreciated. In beauty of finish, richness and elegance of furnishing nothing equal to it has ever been attempted by any other road. The car builders were nearly a year in completing the Pioneer Limited trains (there are two—one leaving Chicago for the west and the other leaving the Twin Cities for the east every evening in the year) and they stand today a monument to the builder's art. No regular passenger train service in America is as well known as the Pioneer Limited. From the standpoint of passenger traffic the past twelve months have been the most successful in the history of the St. Paul road, made so very largely by the Pioneer Limited. The patronage of this service is a striking illustration of the fact that the public appreciates a good thing.

B. & O. S-W. SOLD.

Bid in by the Reorganization Committee for $3,510,000.

E. R. Bacon, representing himself, George Hoadley, jr., and Chauncey Hedman, of New York, the reorganization committee, bid in the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railroad at the foreclosure sale at noon Monday at Cincinnati. The price paid was $3,510,000, which is $10,000 more than the same committee bid for the property when it was offered in parcels. There were present, besides Mr. Bacon, General Manager Underwood, Vice President Greene and Receivers Harmon and Robinson.

It is understood that the reorganization committee will continue operating the road as a separate system and not as a portion of the Baltimore & Ohio. But the B. & O. through the ownership of the common stock will control the B. & O. S-W., and the latter will be operated in as close connection with the Baltimore and Ohio road as it possibly could be under any circumstances.

William M. Greene, vice president, will be in charge of the operation of the property, and will look after the making of the improvements, for which, under the plan of reorganization over $4,000,000 is provided.

Mr. Greene did this work for the B. & O. when General Manager of the road, and the present condition of the B. & O. is evidence of how well the work of physical improvement was done and how judiciously the large sums of money were expended. The B. & O. was in many places practically rebuilt. A great deal of work is now in progress on the Mississippi Division of the B. & O. S-W., and when it is completed the curves will have been straightened, grades reduced, the line straightened between Cincinnati and St. Louis, and with the new heavy rails will be in as fine physical condition as any railroad traversing the states of Indiana and Illinois.

THE "KISSING BUG."

The First Specimen Captured Here Sunday Evening.

Sunday evening the first "kissing bug" was caught in Seymour. L. E. Coryea was lying on the floor reading when he felt a bug crawling on his ear. He brushed it away it away and as it struck the carpet, he noticed its peculiar shape and on examination he found it corresponded exactly with the description of the "kissing bug" which is attracting attention over the country. He killed it and presented it to Dr. W. E. Gerrish who added it to his list of curiosities. Two or three others complain of suffering from bites of the "kissing bug."

An exchange says: "In Washington the Entomological Bureau classes the "kissing bugs" technically as the melangestipes pipipes. It feeds on other bugs in preference to plants and hangers for human blood. Its favorite food is the common bedbug. In its hunt for this food the "kissing bug" crawls over sleepers and attacks the lips, where human skin is thinnest.

The pipipes is about one inch in length, and has a flattened body and very narrow-pointed head. It has a short, strong beak, with a point as sharp as that of a mosquito. It is jet black in color.

The piercing of the victim's skin is accompanied by no perceptible sensation, but the swelling sets in almost immediately. With the swelling comes an intense burning pain, lasting often from two to four days. The part punctured swells to ten times its normal size.

There are always good positions for qualified stenographers and it will pay you to see Miss Southers at once at the Baldwin house, corner Second and Ewing streets. 11d3t

Beautiful Indian Springs.

This property has lately been secured by the Southern Indiana Hotel Co. The old hotel has been demolished and a new one is now in course of erection. This will be a magnificent stone structure with all modern improvements; but will not be ready this season.
There has always been more or less excusion business and parties who go there to enjoy the water. The dance hall, spring house summer pavilion, bowling alley and club house have been left standing and may be used by excursionists and picnic parties.

To accommodate this business the Southern Indiana Railway will put in rates for excusion parties and picnics; and has also arranged special Sunday train schedule, giving patrons along the entire length of the line an opportunity to spend the day at the Springs and return home the same evening.
